next Friday evening at the High School. From the efforts of the Reception Committee the affair is sure to be a success. THE class drill at yesterday's institute caused some discussion among educators as to whether it is not injurious to keep little children under such a nervous strain. The general opinion was that it did not affect the health or appetite of the punil.

At the meeting of the Teachers' Guild held yesterday afternoon, the Misses M, McMullen, of the Minersville school; A. McKinley, Forbes; G. McMasters, Grant, and Miss Wolf, Forbes; G. McMasters, Grant, and Miss Wolf, Springfield, were initiated members. A discussion, on abolishing corporal punishment is very beautiful in theory, but not to put into practice, evoked much interest. By quite a majority it was voted that although one should do as little corporal punishment as pessible, Pittsburg was not yet quite ready to do away with corporal punishment entirely. The discussion at the pext meeting is: That the Present Method of Examining in Grammer for Admission to the High School Ought to be Changed." An unusually interesting institute was held at the Raiston School yesterday morning, Miss Ells Hanlen, of the Mt. Albion School, gave a Ells Hanlon, of the Mt. Albion School, gave a drill with a class of 16 pupils in the work of Step I, in music, reading and arithmetic. Miss Hanlon has the ability to arouse a marvelous activity and interest in her pupils that is astonishing. So pleased were the teachers with the lady's class and her work that they were applauded as they passed from the platform. Dr. E. E. White, of Cincinnati, spoke on "Language," and advocated that good speech cannot be taught through the medium of the English grammar, and advises its use in the two higher grades; that pupils should be taught early the ability to speak and write good English, and to accomplish this it should be made no weekly drill, but the daily work of the schoolroom. The course he outlines in language work is observation lessons, picture stories, stories, letters and dictation exercises. Dr. White's address was very well received.

NATIONAL

Talked of for the East End, With a Prospect of Materializing.

TWO LARGE DEALS IN REALTY.

Some of the Objections Urged Against a Change of Annual Moving Day.

POPULARIZING APARTMENT HOUSES

There is a movement among East End business men te establish a national bank in that part of the city which is considered a good opening for such an institution. A considerable part-nearly one-half-of the proposed capital, $200,000, is already as good as taken.

The names of the projectors are withheld for the present, but they are all prominent and influential citizens of the East End. A meeting will be held in a few days to settle the details, such as name, location, etc.

As there are two sides to every question that comes up for discussion and settlement, it is not surprising that the proposition to change moving day should encounter opposition. Some of the arguments urged against the departure, as formulated by a prominent real estate dealer on Fourth avenue, are herewith presented. While there is no doubt that the change would be heartily endorsed by the public, it is well enough to examine it in all its bearings, so as to insure intelligent action at the proper time.

The gentleman said:
"There are several things in the way of changing moving day from April 1 to May 1. The date first given is firmly established by long custom, and was adopted more from necessity than convenience, as no other time could or would suit the farmers so well. The time would not only have to be changed in the city, but in the immediate suburbs, as tenants ne and go. The people are wedded to ald customs and suspicious of new ones. The change could not take place without a good deal of friction, and in some cases legal diffi-culties, as it would be difficult to have leases arranged to suit everybody. The unanimous consent of all owners would have to be obtained. Agents can do nothing of themselves. "I am in favor of the change, and would be glad to see it made, but I think we will make a mistake if we attempt to force it. The people must be educated up to it. Not only owners but tenants must join in the movement. I think the tenants are the proper persons to agitate and insist upon the change. The sale of two large buildings and grounds in the East End for $140,000 was noted in THE DISPATCH two or three days ago, but particulare were not given. Some additional information was obtained yesterday. The property comprises the elegant mansions of Simon Bey-mer and the late R. C. Schmertz, on Fifth avenue, Bellfield, with grounds occupying a square between Craig and Neville streets. The price as originally given is correct. The purchasers names are withheld for the present, but they are both prominent business men, and they rill occupy and improve the properties. It was reported on the street that the nego tiations were conducted by Messre. Black &

Baird, but when questioned about the matter they declined to say more than confirm the facts as above given. Quite a number of apartment bouses for nedium class tenants are going up in different parts of the city, some within ten minutes of the postoffice, and others are talked of for next year. They are generally of three and four stories, without elevators, but have many conveniences, and are a great improvement over the old way of three or four families living in a house originally intended for one. Beferring to these buildings Samuel W. Black remarked yesterday- "I am glad these houses are going up: Although not so large as they ought to be, they will serve to educate the ple up to something better; and they are a good investment, paying from 10 to 15 per cent. Apartment houses are a necessity in Pittsburg, more so than in any other city in the country, owing to the scarcity and high price of ground, and their introduction is only a question of s little time. They are bound to come.'

Although business last week had a number of depressing influences to contend withfires, some failures near and far, and a large installment of execrable weather-it came out of the ordeal with flying colors. The bank ex-changes were over $2,000,000 in excess of the corresponding week last year. There was no scarcity of funds for legitimate business. The speculative markets were, in the main, dull and weak, though an occasional rally served to keep them out of the rut. A large number of important transactions in real estate furnished abundant proof of great activity in this branch of business. The demand for holiday goods was so great that some of the dealers had to increase their clerical forces.

The worst roads in Western Pennsylvania, and in Allegheny county especially, are precisely where natural resources are the most abundant. Fifty years ago the condition of the roads in Allegheny county might have been excusable. There is no excuse for them now. Good roads improve property; they attract population; they are essential to social inter-course, and to the proper discharge of the duties of an American citizen. The $162,000 supposed to be expended yearly on the roads in gheny county is in the shape of taxation. That is to say, the farmers are taxed to that amount, and they are supposed to 'work it out' on the roads. If they do this there is very lit'le to show for it. The amount of money stated ought to be sufficient to keep every road in the county in good condition. There is a screw loose somewhere. Where is it?

The Real Estate Record takes occasion to say: "The mere fact that tracts of land are sold, resold and sold again, each time at a higher figure, sometimes at a profit of 25 and 30 per cent, is significant. The more so when it is borne in mind that there is no 'boom,' that on the contrary there is a large number of people who enjoy the reputation of being 'very con-servative men' who are buying, and that there is no brass band or auction devices resorted to. We question whether there is a healthier, steadier or more regular real estate market in the country than that of Pittsburg, or one with as strong a bottom."

Who shall say that the American workmen are downtrodden and oppressed by capital, when it is possible for a man to start in a small way as a blacksmith and wheelwright, as did Mr. Clem Studebaker and his two brothers, of South Bend, Ind., and work up to become Studebaker is worth, but his wealth must be studebaser is worth, out his wealth must be very great when it was possible for him to build and support a $300,000 mansion. If others hadn't the ability to accomplish what he did, it is not the fault of capital, but rather the fault of their Creator, who made them with less talent for accumulating, Generally, however, it is nobody's fault but their own that such people don't get along.

Of course there are exceptions, but no healthy man with ordinary talents, who decides to lead man with ordinary taients, who decides to lead a temperate, frugal life, spending continually less than he carms, can fall to acquire, in the course of an ordinary lifetime, a competence, and even in many instances become wealthy.

The new coke works at Grindstone station, on the Redstone branch of the Pittsburg. Virginia and Charleston Railroad, when finished, will be one of the most complete coke and coal plants in Pennsylvania. All the latest and most improved machinery for hoisting and hanling is being put in, and grading for 1,000 coke ovens to being pushed as fast as the weather will allow. Two shafts are completed, each to a depth of 238 feet, at which point a fine ninefoot vein of coking coal was found.

NEW YORK, December 7.-The stock market was quite active by spells this morning, but there was a generally stronger tone, and while all the improvement was not retained at the close the great majority of the list is materially higher than last evening. The temper of the room at the opening was very buildish, and first prices as compared with last evening's figures were generally from 1/2 to 1/2 per cent higher. The shorts were covering in the Trusts, and Coalers and Sugar, Lackawanna and Reading were the most active stocks, though in the Coal stocks the movements were not equal to those in some of the specialties. Sharp advances were made in many stocks, and Sugar shot up to 70, followed by Mauitobs, Michigan Central, the Chicago and East Illinois preferred and the Coalers.

The bears were searching for vulnerable spots however, and for some time after the first rise the market was given all the stock it could rise the market was given all the stock it could take and Sugar rapidly lost nearly all of its early improvement, and some stocks relied to a shade below the opening figures. The pressure was soon discontinued, however, and the buying again began to tell, and while the market became duller, prices again advanced all over the room. The Ubesapeake and Ohio stocks, Oregon Improvement, Denver, Texas and Ft. Worth and some others showed special strength in the last rise, and the market closed active and strong generally at close to the best prices of the day.

Michigan Central was specially strong, but there was realizing in Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati and St. Louis upon the belief that there would be no further improvement in the stock after the declaration of the dividends. A big oil well came in Friday night on the Calhoun farm, in the Smith's ferry field, near Hookstown, in Beaver county. The well is owned by the Union Oil Company. It was impossible to tell exactly what it is doing, the oil coming with such a rush as to be beyond control, but it is put at between 250 and 500 barrels a day, and will probably settle down to a 350-barrel well. The strike has caused considerable excitement in that territory.

The Past's review says: It was remarked yesterday in this column that a good many of the daily apeculators appeared disposed to anticipate the advance which everybody concedes is likely to come in January. This disposition developed into an important buying movement this forenous, not only by local speculators but by those in Chicago and London, and the advances of yesterday were doubled in the short Saturday. The report of the net earnings of the Denver and Ft. Worth for September at $55,483, against $34,478 in the same menth of last year, showing an increase of 175 per cent, was so large that many were at first disposed to think if was not on the same include, but it is, and this fact advanced the stock I per cent. The bnovancy of the market held out to the close, though it probably would not have done so if the bank statement had come out at the usual time, instead of being delayed until it o'clock, just as the stock market had closed.

Rad Bank Statement Causes Speculators to Feel Nervous.

By J. M. Oakley & Co. 's Special Wire.] NEW YORK, December 7 .- The stock market to-day got a little encouragement from Lon-don, where our stocks were higher. The open-ing here was confident, and there was a pronounced rise in Sugar to 70 within the first five minutes. This stock, however, soon eased off to 68, rallying again to 69%. A better feeling exists concerning this property, but there is some hesitation about large investment in trust stocks. The President of the United States some hesitation about large investment in trust stocks. The President of the United States has expressed himself forcibly on this question. Senator Sherman will press in the Senate a bill against trusta, and it is fashionable for legislators and judges to condemn them.

This condition of affairs millitates against the Lead Trust, which is in a situation to earn large profits if let alone. Its present selling price on the grossly inflated capitalization brings the actual market value of the property down to a secure basis, but the projudice of speculators and the hostility of courts and Legislatures forbid any immediate embarrassment of value.

The market continued strong up to the close which was reached before the publication of the bank statement. This came out at 12 o'clock and was bad. It showed a loss of nearity $1.200,000 in reserves and of $1,600,000 in actual money. This brings the banks down to about their legal limit, a poor condition to be in preparatory for the January settlements. Stocks looked to be more valuable on account of the increasing earnings of the roads, but money may yet be more valuable than stocks, because of its searcity. We expect lower prices on Monday. The bank statement will then have its proper effect, and as the bears have covered many short sales they will be in a position to put them out again. Notwithstanding all the serious conditions of trade and traffic we must expect a nervous and irregular martion to put them out again. Notwithstanding all the serious conditions of trade and traffic all the serious conditions of trade and traffic we must expect a nervous and irregular market until siter January I.

The Louden correspondent of the Chrontole, writing on November 23, speaks as follows of the monthly settlement of the Berlin Bourse; "Money is very scarce, but as yet all that was required has been obtained. The rate for borrowers in high credit and with first-class secerities is 7 per cent. For other borrowers it is very much higher, in many cases ranging from 12 to 15 per cent. Nevertheless there has this week been a further marked rise in the shares of iron and coal companies, and some of the leading bankers are bringing out new companies in considerable numbers. The position naturally insures much apprehension. The German operators appear to take a more sanguine view of Brazilian affairs thus is taken here, and they are also more optimistic respectguine view of Brasilian against than is taken here, and they are also more optimistic respecting Argentine affairs. Yet they are largely committed, both in Brasilian and Argentine securities. As regards the Argentine Republic the gold premium continues to rise, being again 180 per cent, and speculation appeared to be as reckless as ever." These facts will do to ponder over.

An Interesting Sensation Which Was Recently Developed There.

THE PARTICULARS IN THE CASE

The little town of Glendale, near Ma field, Ps., on the Little Washington Rail road, is without doubt one of the prettles places in this section. Within the last tew days at has developed quite an interesting usation. The writer, on a recent visit to the place, met Mrs. Ella Black, the lady interested in the case. During an interview she stated the particulars as follows:

"I have been troubled with colds and "I have been troubled with colds and headache for several years. My head was stopped up and feit dry and feverah. I had a severe pain in it continually. At first it was a duli heavy feeling over the oyes, but gradually it extended entirely around my head. My nose was clogged up so that I could scarcely breathe through it. My eyes became inflamed and watery, and my sight was seriously impaired.

"I had a hard cough, and would raise dark yellow mucus. After a time I began to grow worse rapidly. I would have severe pains in my breast. They would come on me suddenly. Sometimes they would be so severe as to almost take my breath away. There was a twitching sensation about my heart. Sometimes my heart would paipitely rapidly, and then best slowly and irregu-

"My throat was sore and inflamed. At imes my neck would feel lame and swollen.

"My throat was sore and inflamed. At times my neck would feel time and swollen. There was a lump in my throat, which I could not get up or down. I sould feel the mucus dropping back into my throat, and when I laid down it would almost strangle me. The trouble attacked my vocal organs and for one year and a half I could not speak above a whisper without great effort.

"My whole system at length became affected, and I lost rapidly in flesh and strength. I had night sweats. My sleep was broken. I would get up in the morning feeling mogre tired than when I went to bed at night. I could not ear at all in the morning, and very little at any other time. After eating I would feel inclined to vomit, and it was only by an effort that I could retain any food on my stomach.

"It was when I was feeling the very worst, and had about given up all hopes of getting cured, that I noticed a case in the newspapers which was similar to mine that Drs. Copeland and Blair had breated successfully. I called on them, and finding their charges reasonable, placed myself under their care.

"I began to notice an improvementin my condition in a very short time. First my head and throat became clear. I had no more trouble with my eyes. The night sweats ceased. My cough left me. The pain in my breast gradually disappeared and my heart beat regularly. In fact, I am entirely cured, and am as well to day as I ever was. I lowe my recovery to Drs. Copelandard Blair, and think it is no more than right that I should make this statement." Mrs. Black lives, as stated, at Glendale, Pa., and this statement can be easily verified.

UPON THE HEARING. Showling the Connect on and the Signs of Progress. A large proportion of the troubles of the ear may be traced to catarrhal affections Many sufferers from catarrh will testify to the peculiar effect that the disease seem have even in its early stages upon the hear-ing. The roaring and buzzing in the ears is one of the most familiar symptons catarrhal sufferers.

Sometimes the sound which they bear is their ears is described by them as "steam going out of a pipe," "the sound of a growaterfall," "sounds of water overflowing, or "steam from a locomotive," as bumi-singing, ringing and crackling; sometim like the sounds in a shell held at the ear, the bursting of bubbles. Sometimes the sounds are of a beating Sometimes the sounds are of a besting pulsating, throbbing character, in one keeping time with the regular beating the heart. Sometimes there are several different sounds, such as pulsating and buzzing to gether, in some cases the sounds are so interms as to render life a burden, and there are it stances on record where the diarracted sufferers have resorted to suicide to rid themselve of them.

There can be no more important predi

There can be no more important predisposing or exciting cause in producing as disease that can arrive itself can harily be mit taken. In many cases the patients have pain about the chest and sides, and sometimes it the back. They feel dult and sleeply: the mouth has a bad taste, especially in the morning. A sort of sticky alime collects about it teeth. The appetite is poor. There is a feeling like a heavy load on the stomach, sense times a faint, "all-gone" sensation at the life the stomach, which food does not satisfy. The eyes are sunken, the hands and feet become cold and clammy.

After a while a cough sets in, at first dry, but after a few months it is attended with a green ish colored expectoration. The patient feet tred, all the while, and sleep does not seem afford any rest. After a time he become nervous irritable and gloomy, and has erforebodings. There is a riddiness. A sort owhirling sensation in the head when rising sendency. The bowels become costive, the shi is dry and hot at times; the blood become thick and stagnant; the whites of the eyes accupe tinged with yellow; the kidney accretion hecome scanty and high-colored, depositing a spitting up of food, sometimes with a nutasse and sometimes with a sweetish tasse, this frequently attended with paintantion of the heart and asthmatic symptoms.

The Results of Home Treatment, Last May Miss Lottie J. Forker, of 2 Arch street, Meadville, Pa., placed her under treatment by mail with Drs. Copela under treatment by mail with Dra Copelan & Blair for her catarrhal trouble.
On June 9 she wrote: "Your medicine i doing me good. I do not feel so tured and mherdaches have ceased."
August 26 her letter stated: "I feel quit like a different woman from the one I we when I commenced your treatment."
